

IMAGES THAT POP with KATE HEADLEY

A How-To Workshop on Editorial Style Photography

You don't need a professional studio to get bright and beautiful images. This workshop is for women bloggers, crafters, artists, collectors and anyone who want to learn to take better photographs of their work, still life and family. We'll cover the best camera settings for bright and fresh images with a focus on natural lighting techniques. We'll discuss ideal equipment and how to compose photographs that stand out. You'll walk away with tips you can immediately put to use in your everyday photography.

It's recommended to have a digital SLR camera, but it is optional. This class is for beginners to intermediate, not professional photographers or wedding photographers. Bring your notebook, your camera, the manual, questions and inspirational photos you'd like to know more about.

[DATES]	Sunday, November 15, 2009 or Sunday, December 6, 2009
[TIME]	2:00 – 3:30 PM
[LOCATION]	The Athenaeum, 201 Prince Street, Alexandria, VA 22314
[FEE]	$125
[REGISTER]	Email to kateheadleyphoto@gmail.com with your date choice and Paypal email for invoicing. Space is limited to 12 people per class.
[QUESTIONS]	Kate Headley, kateheadleyphoto@gmail.com

INSTRUCTOR: KATE HEADLEY

Kate Headley is a leading Washington, D.C. wedding photographer. Kate is known for her fresh, editorial-approach to her nationally recognized photography. Her work has appeared in Martha Stewart Weddings, Southern Weddings, Brides.com and other leading online publications. Before becoming a photographer, she received a master's degree in Teaching at the George Washington University.